with emotion when the spectators and students rose up en masse to applaud the young genius. He has a brother proportionately clever.

Owing to the great numbers of single young women emigrating to America, there is a dearth of domestic servants in England, especially in the

Some Interesting Statistics.

Dr. Edward Young, of Philadelphia, Chief of the United States Bureau of Statistics, furnishes some interesting and astonishing figures showing what we annually pay in this city for intoxicat-ing liquors. Dr. Young is especially qualified to speak on the matter, not only from the facilites afforded by his position in the Treasury Department, but because he has been an earnest advocate of temperance for more than forty years, and was the only American who declined to take wine at the tables of the Emperor and other members of the imperial family of Russia, and of the princes and nobles of that country. The figures submitted by Dr. Young show the following fact and estimates in regard to the direct pecuniary cost of the spirituous, vinous, and fermented liquors which were used in the United States during the fiscal year 1875:

1,700,000 gallons of imported brandy retailed at $10 per gal. 17,000,000 6, 400,000 gallons of imported wines, retailed at $5 per gal. 32,000,000 Domestic wines, brandy, etc., estimated at 30,000,000 Estimated cost at retail......$637,000,000

As a proof that this amount is not, to a great extent, an overestimate, it may be stated that there are 160,000 dealers (of whom 15,719 are in Pennsylvania) who pay $25 each to the United States government for a license to sell liquors at retail. If these sell on an average but $4,000 each, the aggregate is $640,000,000, almost exactly the sum above named. These I60,000 dealers, however, do not include 5,040 wholesale liquor dealers, nor 696 wholesale and 7,711 retail dealers in malt liquors.
